A Few of The Accomplishments To Theodore Roosevelt's Credit.

One of the few good stand pat Republicans we have been able to find in American Fork, asked in a crowd on Sunday morning "What has Roosevelt ever done?" What has he done that should win for him such public applause from the rank and file of the American people, especially the laboring men or small business man? What has he ever done for Utah?

All of the people of this state, even those opposing and defiling the state, will remember, how he stood, for a square deal, and against the strong protest of thousands of the leading people in every state in the Union, made it possible for Senator Reed Smoot to retain his seat, an honor that until that time was out of the reach of an official of the dominant church, and would have ever been so until Roosevelt or some other fearless character large enough to show the narrow injustice of such opposition, had not taken a stand for a square deal to the people of Utah.

In this county we have especial cause to remember and praise our ex-president. Roosevelt can be directly credited with the Strawberry tunnel irrigation project, which will soon be a realized blessing by reclaiming 30,000 acres of what has been almost useless land. This great undertaking, one of the largest irrigation projects in America was made possible by the National Irrigation law which he helped to frame and pass.

President Roosevelt done so many tremendous big things in justice to all that we remember him only as a great president, and at the end of his last term would have again placed him in the White House above his own protest, he was so much admired by the American people.

In the words of Hon. Henry J. Allen, in his recent speech at Salt Lake, which we wish all could read in full, we have here given a number of brief quotations of some of the things Roosevelt has done in the interest of the people.

He helped to frame and pass bills for the regulation of railroad employees hours of labor, and for the national safety appliance act; he helped to frame and pass the liability act as it affects and protects laborers; he helped to frame and pass the law creating the department of commerce and industry—four more great acts for the regulation of the evils suffered by laboring men. And if you want to know what the laboring men of the great industrial centers think of these acts, just read the returns from Pennsylvania there now and in November. He helped to frame and pass the pure food and pure drugs act, and he had to use his big stick some. And that was some law, when it was administered by competent people. The man who made it a real thing in American life, who made it a real thing in every drug store in the land, in every food factory, in every kitchen and every hotel, quit his job about two months ago, and if we can believe him—and I insist that the character of his service entitles him to credibility with us—he quit his job because he was sick of the policy that was all the time trying to whitewash millionaires who wanted to poison foods and drugs.

He helped to frame and pass the national meat inspection bill. He opened the door of China to American commerce.

He settled the Pennsylvania coal strike. Surely you remember that, don't you? My my, what an act that was! That took courage; it took executive power; it took self-control. He used his big stick there. Mr. Roosevelt settled that strike in Pennsylvania with such equal justice as between the mine owner and mine worker that there was no complaint from either side.

You remember the Treaty of Portsmouth? Why was it, when the war between Japan and Russia had reached the point of horror where the whole civilized world was sick, that every civilized ruler turned to Roosevelt as the one man to begin the activities for peace? Why? Simply because, in the matter of these weighty settlements, Mr. Roosevelt towered head and shoulders above every other ruler on the earth. (Applause.) We were proud of him then, were we not?

Well, Mr. Roosevelt settled the Alaska boundary dispute; reduced the interest bearing debt $90,000,000.

A voice in the audience asks "How about Mexico?" A gentleman asks, "How about Mexico?" Well, far be it from me to assume the role of prophet, but after next March you ask Mr. Roosevelt "How about Mexico?"

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE. The reactionary papers are constantly screaming, "Roosevelt is backed by the trusts."

The best way to answer that charge is to point to the big newspapers of the United States which are known to be owned or controlled by the big interests. Not one of them is for Roosevelt, from the New York Sun down to the Salt Lake Herald-Republican.

Whenever a good piece of news is received as to Progressive victory, Wall street has a fit.

Every straw that indicates the direction of the wind that favors the trusts proves unmistakably that the trusts want Taft and are fearful of Roosevelt.

Much is being made of the fact that Geo. Perkins, formerly with Morgan & Co., is supporting Roosevelt. Mr. Perkins has retired from business and is trying to do good in many ways, perhaps in atonement for his past. He has become recognized as one of the greatest philanthropists of New York, his work among the poor being extensive and well organized. His labors evidently are prompted by a desire to do the most possible good with the money at his command. Like Carnegie, he has acknowledged the obligation that rests on a man of wealth, but he has selected a more practical course than Carnegie and instead of building libraries, he is aiding in purifying American politics and offering to the average American a better chance in the battle of life.

Our one regret is that there are not more George Perkins with noble aspirations.—Ogden Standard.

In the words of Abe Ruff the San Francisco political boss, now writing from prison, his political life, says, "A very large proportion of the voters can no longer be herded, as they have been in the past, upon one side or the other of futile mock issues." This is philosophy that politicians all over the United States are also learning.

The Citizen $1.50 the year, 52 issues

Mrs. Eliza Christensen, Mrs. C. M. Beck, Mrs. R. E. Booth, Mrs. Annie Morrison of California, Mrs. Annie Fisher of Iowa, and the Misses Ida and Manda Chipman spent Wednesday afternoon outing at the lake resort. Luncheon was served about six o'clock.

The birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Johnson of Highland on Aug. 3rd was overlooked by The Citizen last week. The proud parents think they have the finest girl in the country—and she must not be sighted.

The Fourth ward Theological class enjoyed supper and a dip in the Saratoga plunge Thursday evening. The class was accompanied by their teachers, Lot Robinson, Elmer Chipman and Miss Ruby Thornton.

The following delegates to the irrigation congress, to be held in Salt Lake Sept. 30 to Oct. 3, were appointed by county commissioners on Monday: Hyrum Lemmon, James G. Duffin, Perry A. Thomas, James L. Meldrum, S. L. Chipman.

The wagon missionaries will go to Provo the first of the week. They have been here two weeks and during their nightly meetings have had many interesting discussions with local people of bible subjects. It is undecided whether they will hold a final street meeting Sunday night.

Oh, How I Itched!

What long nerve-racking days of constant torture—what sleepless nights of terrible agony—itch—itch—itch—constant itch, until it seemed that I must tear off my very skin—then—

Instant relief—my skin cooled, soothed and healed!

The very first drops of D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema stopped that awful itch instantly; yes, the very moment D.D.D. touched the burning skin the torture ceased. A 25c bottle proves it.

D.D.D. has been known for years as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child.

All other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee—if you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

NOTICE TO WATER USERS.

State Engineer's Office, Salt Lake City, Utah, August 8, 1912.

Notice is hereby given that the estate of John Hindley, by John R. Hindley, administrator, whose post office address is American Fork, Utah, made application in accordance with the requirements of Chapter 108, Session Laws of Utah, 1907, as amended by the Session Laws of Utah, 1907, to appropriate one (1) cubic foot of water per second from Mitchell Hollow Stream, Utah County, Utah. Said water was to have been diverted at a point which lies 1,575 feet west and 800 feet north of the southeast corner of Section 10, Township 5 south, Range 1 east, Salt Lake base and meridian, from a where it was to have been conveyed by means of two ditches aggregating 2,700 feet in length and there used during the period from April 1 to October 31, inclusive, of each year, to irrigate 1.0 acres of land embraced in Sections 40 and 45, Township 5 south, Range 1 east, Salt Lake base and meridian. The applicant now makes application in accordance with the requirements of Section 1288x24, Chapter 62, Session Laws of Utah, 1909, to change the point of diversion to two points situated as follows: Point of diversion No. 1 lies 1,575 feet west and 585 feet north of the southeast corner of Section 10, Township 5 south, Range 1 east, Salt Lake base and meridian. Point of diversion No. 2 lies 1,610 feet west and 53 feet north of the corner above described. Said water will be conveyed by means of two ditches aggregating 1,060 feet in length, and there used during the period from April 1 to October 31, inclusive, of each year, to irrigate the tract of land originally intended. This application is designated in the State Engineer's office as No. 128.

All protests against the granting of said application, stating the reasons therefor, must be made by affidavit in duplicate and filed in this office within thirty (30) days after the completion of the publication of this notice.

CALEB TANNER, State Engineer, Date of first publication August 17, 1912, date of completion of publication September 16, 1912.
